

In hindsight, I'm glad you broke my heart.
Pining at night, crying in the dark.
In hindsight, I know I need a fresh start.

*Quit looking in the rearview mirror, you ain't going that way.
That's what they say, they say, they say.
Yeah, that's what they say.
But if they'd ever loved you, they'd check twice a day.*

In hindsight, I see where it all went wrong.
Falling for the piper, playing his song.
In hindsight, it's clear your love is long gone.

*Quit looking in the rearview mirror, you ain't going that way.
That's what they say, they say, they say.
Yeah, that's what they say.
But if they'd ever loved you, they'd check twice a day.*

In hindsight, I see the future unfold
Memories so fine, days of spun gold.
In hindsight, I know we'll never grow old.

*Quit looking in the rearview mirror, you ain't going that way.
That's what they say, they say, they say.
Oh, that's what they say.
But if they'd ever loved you, they'd check twice a day.*